Wild week for Washington Unified School District

School board welcomes its new superintendent

■ New WUSD head comes to West Sac by way of Appalachians, Africa

by John Siden

Dr. David Miller, superintendent of schools in Fowler, California, has been unanimously named Superintendent of the Washington Unified School District effective March 28. Miller started moving into his office this past week by hanging a picture of Alice in Wonderland and other Disney pictures. "I like animation art," he explained. He will be spending two or three days a week in the district before he begins full time duties.

Besides setting a schedule of days he will be in West Sacramento, Miller said he will be talking to the board this next week about filling the many vacancies in the district administration. "That has to be a top priority," he said.

In Fowler, an agricultural community 13 miles south of Fresno, Miller was instrumental in passing a bond measure for a new middle school, garnering more than 70% favorable vote on the first try. He is clear about what it takes to pass a bond measure. "We need a clear vision of what we want the bond issue money to do, where the money will be spent and how the bond issue will benefit the entire community."

He was also involved in updating school facilities. "It was wonderful. We did everything from acoustic tiles to new toilet facilities to a new computer room, he said."

Prior to his four years in Fowler, Miller was principal of a 2,000-student high school in Corona, Riverside County, for two years, then spent a year planning a new high school and another year as principal of the new campus.

Why would he want to come to a district that has had so much trouble over the past two years? "I think there is a great deal of potential in this district. I'm looking forward to a strong leadership and teaching team. And I think this will be a good area to live. I'm looking forward to raising my daughter here and living in the community."

The 47-year-old Miller has also been a director of American schools with multi-national student bodies in the United Arab Emirates and Zaire; a high school teacher in Greece; principal of a middle and high school in the Appalachian mountains, and an elementary teacher and assistant principal.

Miller received his post-secondary education at Miami University in Ohio, from which he received his Ph.D. in curriculum and community education. He is married and has a daughter in the fifth grade. His family will be joining him in West Sacramento at the end of the school term.

Miller succeeds Dr. Del Alberti, who resigned effective January 31 after five years in the post. Salary and benefits are still being negotiated with the trustees and will be announced at a later date.

Trustee votes against reprimanding president

by John Siden

During the Feb. 10 school board meeting, a censure vote of president Hal Williams failed and an audit report highlighted shortcomings of business practices of the district and the condition of facilities at the high school was criticized.

The motion to censure Williams for recent comments in a local paper about the district having just a few good custodians was supported by Linda Brooks, Daryl Fisher and Stuart Knox. Williams contended he was misquoted.

Trustees Pat Flint and Irene Eklund voted against reprimanding Williams, saying they believed him to have been misquoted, and Williams and trustee Susan Carter abstained from voting. Fisher walked out of the meeting during a discussion of the issue, after seconding the motion to censure Williams.

Fisher turned in his resignation from the school board following the meeting, saying the board's decision not to censure Williams was the "straw that broke the Four-year school board member Daryl Fisher resigned from the board last week, citing his anger at the elected body's performance. Fisher departed from Thursday's school board meeting during a discussion of whether to censure (verbally reprimand) board president Hal Williams for remarks he allegedly made in a local newspaper interview.

After "seconding" the motion to censure Williams, Fisher left the meeting during a discussion on the issue, when it became apparent the motion would fail. After Fisher left, Stuart Knox and Linda Brooks voted in favor of the censure, while Irene Eklund and Pat Flint opposed it. Williams and Susan Carter abstained, leaving the vote two votes shy of the four

Comments from a student homebuilder

Students from the River City High School Building project gave a report on their current project to a joint meeting of the Youth Commission and the City Council on February 2nd. Under the supervision of instructor Greg Rose, the 13 students from River City and Yolo High Schools are building a house in the neighborhood of Bryte. As of today, they have torn down the run down house that already existed on the property, built a new garage, built a fence around the property, and poured the foundation of the new house. They are currently working on the floor. The News-Ledger was so impressed by the presentation, that we asked permission of the author and speaker, senior Tyler Herdklotz, to print the following excerpts from his speech:

By Tyler Herdklotz
River City High School Senior

Hello, thanks for inviting us to come. We are from the River City High School Construction Program. I'm Tyler Herdklotz, Director of Public Relations, also with me tonight are John Puumala, Project Coordinator, Jared Lewin, Director of Finances, and Jason Hall, Head of Donations. We are here today to speak to you about our programs and our current project.

We began our current building project at 613 Smilax in the summer of 1993 after the City of West Sacramento and the School District agreed to sponsor this project. We received financial assistance from the Community Partnership Agency and through Vocational Education funding, which allowed participants to be paid minimum wage in addition to summer school credit. During the regular school year, students only receive school credits.

The original intention was to remodel the house. Upon further investigation we found extensive termite and dry rot damage. We also found that much of the building was no where near code. After consultation with the Redevelopment Agency staff it was decided to demolish it and start over. We found the process of acquiring new permits on the house to be a time consuming problem.

This year we're receiving credit for Senior English, Beginning Math, Physical Science and elective credits. We are acquiring a working understanding of every aspect of residential construction. So far in building our garage, which we have finished, we have learned concrete work, framing, electrical, roofing, and finish carpentry. We are now in the midst of setting forms for the foundation of the house. We have used many different tools and equipment. We regularly use such tools as a builder's level, builder's saw, pneumatic nail guns, and unfortunately a shovel. We have even milled our own siding to create a better appearance while keeping costs down.

This project benefits the community by providing affordable housing in our city. What was once a low taxable piece of land can now be put back on the tax rolls with increased value. It also removes an eye sore and replaces it with a new house, thereby improving the neighborhood.

Our goals include finishing our house by June 10th, 1994, and selling the house so we can generate money for future projects in this program. To date, the School District has spent $6,419 from their general fund and $4,009 from Restricted Vocational Education funding, for a total of $10,428. The Redevelopment Agency has spent $13,350 for materials and an additional $4,274 for tools, for a total of $17,624. We have calculated that it will take approximately an additional $34,000 for materials to complete the project, with an additional $3,500 for a central heating and air conditioning unit.

Our program has room for 20 students to learn the principles of home construction. They receive high school credits in English, Science, Math, and elective credits. The purpose of our program is to give students a working understanding of residential construction and prepare students for jobs in this field. The program is also designed to teach necessary job principles for success in any field. This includes management, delegation of authority, group leadership, public relations and communications skills.

The people who oversee this program are our instructor, Mr. Greg Rose, our Vocational Education Specialist, Mr. Steve Colwell, both from River City High School. Also Mrs. Mary Shearer. Tina Gontarski, and Val Toppenberg, from the City of West Sacramento Redevelopment Agency.

We have given a presentation to the Rotary Club about our project and solicited donations from the club's business people. We would like to thank all of you for giving us an opportunity to learn "real life" job skills for future careers.

Two still at large

■ West Sacramento woman feared to be with one of the escapees who is still on the loose

By David Weller

Two of the nine teenage men who violently escaped from Yolo County's juvenile hall detention center are still at large. Both of the young men are from West Sacramento. Ronnie Prince, 17, has been convicted of robbery, assault with a deadly weapon, and use of a firearm during commission of a felony. Juan Garcia, 16, was being held on burglary and auto theft charges.

"We know they had outside help because there were cars waiting to pick some of them up, but we can't talk to the kids about it because of their right to remain silent," said Yolo County Chief Probation Officer Dean Alderman. The search for the two still at large is in the hands of the county police. The probation department, which oversees the detention center, is now concentrating on finding ways to prevent future escapes.

West Sacramento resident Rachel Gates, 20, may be with Prince, family members fear. Gates is a friend of Prince and received a phone call the evening of the breakout, reportedly leaving her house "upset." Authorities are concerned she may be in some danger if she is with Prince.

Prince had been convicted for robbery, assault with a deadly weapon and use of a firearm in commission of a robbery.

"Its ironic that one of these boys (Prince) was on his way to San Quentin, and yet the law won't allow us to keep him in county jail," said Alderman. He also expressed concern that younger children and less violent youths are kept in the same 12 bed facility as the older very violent juvenile offenders. Children as young as seven have stayed in the detention center.

Alderman and County Administrative Officer Donna Landeros are recommending to the County Board of Supervisors that they form a committee to study current operational procedures and facility issues. One of the Supervisors has also suggested that the committee address delinquency and crime prevention issues.

The proposed committee would be made up of Supervisor Thomson (who is the Board's liai-

City/county land deal on table tonight

Triangle court properties may include a new home for police

A proposal to purchase property for a new services center in West Sacramento will be on tonight's city council agenda, and is expect to be approved.

In the deal, the city's police department would receive a long-sought new home at the Jefferson Blvd./Triangle Court intersection, replacing its current home at the former Yolo County Sheriff's Department substation at 4th and C streets.

In the deal involving the city, its redevelopment agency, Yolo County, and landowner R.C. Collet and its partners, are the following highlights:

■ The City of West Sacramento will take title to 1001 Triangle Court for use by the police department.

■ The city will also take title to 500 Jefferson Blvd., to lease it to the county for social services.

■ The county will take title to 1038 Triangle Court, also to be used for social services.

■ West Sacramento's redevelopment agency would obtain title to the county's property which now houses the Salud Health Center in West Sacramento, and to the one-half share ownership the county now has with the city on a vacant site at 1124 West Capitol Avenue (the former Lloyd Hickey's nightclub).

■ The purchase price for the Triangle/Jefferson properties will be $3,560,000 -- which a city staff report says is seven percent below the properties' assessed value.

■ Total project costs, including renovations, is estimated at $6,695,617 -- of which $4,282,102 will come from tax revenue bonds.

An ambitious plan to build a city police and fire center on city redevelopment agency property on Sacramento Avenue has been delayed due to its expense.

Shockley unopposed

Doris Shockley, the West Sacramento resident who was appointed by Governor Wilson to fill a vacant seat on the Yolo County Superior Court, will not have to campaign to keep the seat in the June elections.

Both challengers dropped out of the race following her appointment to the seat.

Shockley was formerly the judge at West Sacramento's municipal court until that court was eliminated in a cost-cutting move by the county last year.

Republican candidate to speak on Feb. 22

Larry Fowler, a Republican from Sacramento who has launched a campaign to oust representative Vic Fazio in the 1994 election for the 3rd Congressional District seat, will speak Tuesday, February 22, at the local area United We Stand America (UWSA) meeting, which will take place between 7 and 9 p.m. at the Sudwerk Restaurant in Davis. The Sudwerk Restaurant is located at the corner of Poleline Road and Second Streets in East Davis.

For further information contact Bill Morris at 756-8099 or Sonia Price at 756-4834.

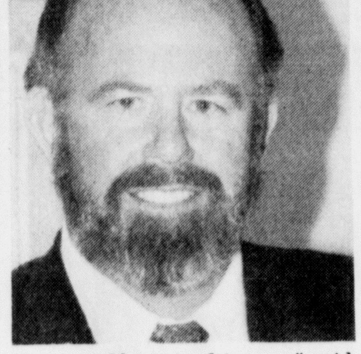
Fazio has announced he will defend his Congressional seat again this year. In 1992, he successfully fought off a challenge by Republican H.L. Richardson of Sacramento.

State realtor to speak

Daniel A. Rosenfeld, Deputy Director for Real Estate in the Department of General Services of the State of California, will speak to the West Sacramento Rotary Club on Wednesday, Feb. 16, at 12 noon at the Pheasant Club.

His organization is responsible for the leasing and property management of 34 million square feet of state controlled office space.

Farmer/attorney joins McGowan, Lucas



Montana Podva, a family farming businessman and chair of the Rural Caucus of the California Democratic Party, declared his intention to run for the fourth district state senate seat. This district includes Solano, Yolo, Sutter, Colusa, Glenn, Tehema, Shasta, Trinity, Siskiyou, and part of Sacramento county.

Podva, who was his party's nominee in the old district special election last November, is optimistic about his chances or reversing the outcome this year. "With the new district lines including much more progressive voters in Solano, Yolo, and Siskiyou counties it will be much easier for a moderate Democrat like myself to win this seat," said the former constitutional defense lawyer.

"The issues in this campaign will focus on preventing crime by improving educational opportunities, preserving the integrity of our water resources for agrarian, domestic, and wildlife uses and promoting new industry within special enterprise zones," he continued.

"This new district is very special to me. I was born in Sacramento and graduated from U.C. Davis in 1970. My great-grandparents, grandparents, and other relatives are buried in the Red Bluff cemetary. My folks grew up in Dunsmuir and Cottonwood and now I am living on the family farm of 50 years south of Arbuckle," Podva stated. "I intend to inspire our 18 year old citizens to register and vote on June 7. They are the future of this nation and they need to become politically aware and active if they desire a world worthy of their inheritance."

Podva, who studied constitutional law under Justice Anthony Kennedy and served as law clerk to then retired Justice William O. Douglas at the Supreme Court of the United States, closed his law practice last year and is now wholesaling distinguished pocket copies of the Constitution and Bill of Rights to organizations interested in using them as fundraising materials.

River City basketball rises over St. Patrick

By Chuck Robinson

Last Tuesday night, the River City High School mens varsity basketball team won another thriller, this time beating St. Patrick, 63 to 62. I thought River City was a goner with 3 minutes left and down by 12 points. But Bill Springer hit a three pointer, then got the ball back, and Bill Springer hit another three pointer. River City stole the ball twice in a row and scored to pull within 1 point. With 8 seconds Bill Springer made a lay up for 2 points to put River City in the lead 63 to 62 and then stopped St. Patrick on their drive to win a thriller. Bill Springer had 18 points, 9 assists, 4 three-pointers; Mark Munsinger, 17 points, 9 rebounds, 8 for 9 free throws; Zac Salvo, 14 points, 7 rebounds, 4 assists, 3 blocked shots; and Anesh Singh, 14 points, 2 assists, 4 steals, 4 three-pointers. Carlos Aguilar didn't score but had a big night with 3 rebounds, 8 assists, 5 steals.

River City walked over Encina 76 to 51. In the first quarter, River City had 12 points, Encina 10. At half time it was still close, with River City 27 and Encina 23. At half time, coach Jon West and Shawn King lit a fire under the team. At the end of the 3rd quarter, the Raiders led 50 to 36 and finished the game 76 to 51. Zac Salvo led with 23 points, 8 rebounds, 4 steals; Carlos Aguilar, 14 points, 4 assists, 6 steals, 4 three-pointers; Mark Munsinger, 12 points, 8 rebounds, 5 blocked shots; Anesh Singh, 11 points, 3 assists, 3 steals; Bill Springer, 5 points, 4 rebounds, 9 assists; Doug Gongaware, 5 points, 3 rebounds; Thomas Clayton, Duane Gordon and Alex Victor, 2 points each. River City's record is 14-8 overall and 8-3 in league and they are still in contention for the playoffs.

J.V.'s Split a Pair

Last Tuesday the River City High School mens junior varsity basketball team beat St. Patrick 73 to 63. Donald Golaway led with 17 points, 9 rebounds, 5 steals; Bruce Sweeten, 16 points, 7 rebounds, 4 three-pointers; Jaimes Timas, 15 points, 8 rebounds, 4 steals; Ghamai Mashrigi, 13 points, 3 assists, 3 steals; Senh Saelee, 6 points, 7 assists; Andrew Odor, Brian Sidhu and Julio Gomez, 2 points each.

Thursday night the J.V.'s lost to Encina 69 to 58. Bruce Sweeten led with 16 points, 6 rebounds, 3 assists, 3 steals, 2 three-pointers; Jaimes Timas, 15 points, 8 rebounds, 3 assists; Donald Golaway, 13 points, 11 rebounds, 4 assists, 4 blocked shots; Zerguy Maazouddin, 8 points, 3 steals; Senh Saelee, 4 points, 7 assists; and Ghamai Mashrigi, 2 points, 5 rebounds, 3 assists. The J.V.'s record is 9-9 overall and 7-4 in league. Coach Jamie King said, "I was very disappointed to lose this game but I am still proud of this team."

Thursday night the Raiders will play Justin Sienna at home. On Tuesday, February 22, they will play their last game at St. Helena. Game times are 5:30 and 7 p.m.

The Sports Insider

By Richard Novoa

This is the time of year when professional sports is in between seasons!

The Pro Bowl last week finished off the football season, baseball is just around the corner and NBA basketball is at the half-way point. CBS's coverage of the Olympic Games is ten hours after the event, which means you know the results before you can turn on TV! This is the perfect time to do your income taxes!

The Kings' guard Mitch Richmond, playing in his first NBA All Star game, scored ten points on 5-for-16 shooting in 24 minutes of playing time. The East beat the West 127-118 on Sunday evening before a subdued crowd of 17,096 in Minneapolis. Scotty Pippen produced game-high numbers in points (29) and rebounds (11) to win the All Star MVP award. Shaquille O'Neal really put on a show for the NBA fans, finishing 2 for 12 from the field and only having eight points, but his commercial on TV was good!!

The Sacramento Kings (15-32) resume play following the All Star break with the Western Conference's third-worst record. The Kings have once again been crippled by injuries. Duane Causwell and Bobby Hurley have missed most of the season and the Kings still lack a power player around the basket.

The Kings have players with talent in All Star Mitch Richmond, Lionel Simmons and Wayman Tisdale, but they still lack the personalities to take the leadership role.

Spud Webb and free-agent Trevor Wilson have been a pleasant surprise for the Kings, and second-year swingman Walt Williams seems to have the leadership qualties and talent, but is shooting 38 percent from the field and has the team's highes turnover rate. Horace Grant, the 6'10" power forward of Chicago, will become an unrestricted free agent at the end of the season and has said he'd consider Sacramento if the price was right!

Kings' next home games are Wed. Feb. 16 against the 76ers and Friday night, Feb. 18, against the Utah Jazz.

Boxing returns to the Radisson Hotel in Sacramento on Tuesday, march 8 and Monday, March 21. Promoter Don Chargin has at least 42 rounds of boxing scheduled with local professional fighters Richard Munoz, Anthony Lopez and West Sacramento's Willie Jorrin as the featured bouts.

Tickets are on sale at the El Azteca restaurant in West Sacramento, at the Washington Neighborhood Center and Radisson Hotel gift shop, and are priced at $15 and $25.

See ya next week!!

Gold country artist in local show

by Betty Fairbairn Sokolich
Exhibition Chairperson

The rolling, golden hills of California's foothills is a constant inspiration for the El Dorado artist Delores O'Neill Meldrum. The exhibit at the Arthur Turner Library, 1212 Merkley Ave., West Sacramento, displays ten beautifully painted watercolors of the Gold Country, an area of great fascination for history buffs who find the allure of the gold rush days never ceasing. Meldrum's interest is not in the history but in the changing colors, textures, and the shifting light of the day which creates light and dark values.

FOOTHILL BLUE and FOOTHILL PINK show the rolling hills with the typical vegetation of the terrain, distant mountains, blue in one painting and pink in the other, giving the viewer the experience of the great expanse of space as the hills become mountains.

BLOSSOM TIME IN GOLD COUNTRY is loosely painted to describe the texture of the flowers and grasses indigenous to the area in soft greens, yellow ochre, and red lavender, with touches of red stamen to accent the flowers and stimulate your desire to visit the beautiful scene. In BLOSSOM TIME II Meldrum uses an asymmetrical composition with blue flowers to dominate the scene.

GOLD COUNTRY ROCKS jut out of the earth as grasses and shrubs struggle to catch hold of enough soil to sustain their growth. OAKS, ROCKS, AND GRASS describes the foothills by portraying a majestic live oak tree in all its enormous size and glory. The familiar corpse of live oak trees hugging the hillside dominates the scene in The Gold and the Green.

A magnificent sky with scudding clouds promising to bring rain to the countryside is beautifully painted in OPEN COUNTRY in LATROBE. The foreground of grasses, flowers and trees gives a sense of space to the painting.

In SONOMA COUNTY SPRING the almond blossoms are a mass of pink color as the foothills are awakening to the call of spring. GRAPES is a painting of luscious grapes ready for harvesting.

LOOKS LIKE JENNER does remind one of the town of Jenner on the coast by the Russian River as it nestles into the coastal mountains. Meldrum uses a beautiful variety of yellow greens to depict the sun on the hills surrounding the charming village of houses on the hillside.

Trees planted under CDF grant to city

The city of West Sacramento Department of Parks and Community Services has received a federal Small Business Administration grant of &7,000.00 through the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection (CDF), to plant eighty (80) trees. The trees will be planted at Alyce Norman/Bryte playfields on Todhunter in West Sacramento.

The Small Business Appropriation Act of 1990 authorized grants to any state for the purpose of contracting with small businesses to plant trees on land owned or controlled by state or local government.

This grant allows the city to add trees to Alyce Norman/Bryte playfields now that were to be planted in a later phase of the project. It will beautify the project and add some very important shade as they grow.

Statewide, approximately 47,000 trees will be planted under this program.

Contracts have been awarded to the Capital Landscape Corporation to plant the trees, and the Gribaudo Nursery to supply the trees.

County will be re-assessing

Yolo County Assessor Alan Flory announced that his appraisal staff is currently reviewing the assessment of residential property that was purchased since the summer of 1988. Flory indicated that the review is necessary because of the concern that in some instances the economic downturn may have resulted in value declines during that period.

To assist his staff in this review Flory invites property owners who have information indicating that the current market value of their property is lower than the figure shown on their 1993 tax bill to contact his office at 625 Court Street, Room 104, Woodland, 95695; telephone, 666-8135.

Women volunteers

The Sister/Friend Project is looking for West Sacramento women who will volunteer two hours of their time to help other women. Our clients are pregnant or parenting women or teens in need of emotional support, encouragement and practical assistance as they learn to manage their own lives. Our goals are to facilitate prenatal and continuing health care and drug-free deliveries and to promote healthy and happy mother/child relationships. This is accomplished by providing one on one support, pairing each volunteer with one mother.

A Training Workshop for prospective volunteers is planned for Saturday, Feb. 26, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Yolo County Office of Alcohol and Drug programs, 201 W. Beamer Street, Woodland. Topics include: Assertive Communication, Co-Dependency, Chemical Dependency, Effects of Perinatal Substance Abuse, Domestic Violence, Teen Pregnancy and Community Resources.

Due to limited space reservations are necessary by Feb. 24. Please contact the Sister/Friend project at 371-1966.

On juvenile hall security, school board conduct

Thoughts for the week:

County officials are wisely taking another look at the policies and regulations surrounding Yolo's juvenile hall, after a violent breakout by nine inmates two weeks ago. Two of those inmates are still on the loose.

In some ways, the county is hamstrung by antique state law, which forbids the placement of dangerous juveniles in a "real" jail unless they can be separated from adult inmates. This "separation" alternative is, of course, quite impractical amidst today's overcrowded prison conditions.

So a nearly 18-year old accused murder is sent to the same lower security juvenile hall as an eleven year old caught breaking in a car window -- one that is required to provide a "family" atmosphere.

This law may have worked fine when a few decades ago when a juvenile delinquent was often someone who had shouted a bad word at a police officer. But it is not appropriate in determining where to send one of today's potentially more dangerous teens.

The whole system deserves another look.

And no, the "three strikes, you're out" initiative won't solve California's crime program -- or even put a major dent in it.

Crime prevention and interdiction is still the only real long-term cure.

In any other city and any other school district, school board president Hal Williams would have been publicly censured by his peers for his comment that the only good people in the Washington Unified School District were maybe a few good janitors.

But here, we have low standards.

The board president claims the quote was fabricated (although he does not ask the newspaper for a correction), and his three long-term board allies choose to either abstain or vote against holding him responsible.

Shame.

A hearty welcome to new WUSD top staff member

by John Siden

Welcome to West Sacramento, Dr. David Miller!

Dr. Miller has been chosen as the new superintendent of Washington Unified School District. He was introduced at the February 10 meeting of the district's trustees.

His inaugural meeting with the trustees, which he watched from the audience, should have been an eye opener. Here is what he saw and heard:

- members of the Soroptimist Club expressed displeasure with the condition of the high school campus;
- the district's auditors reported numerous failures in the business office that is either severely understaffed or poorly managed, depending on who is believed;
- the president of the board defended his statement about the district having just a few good custodians (while maintaining he was misquoted) and three members saw no reason to distance themselves from his comments;
- and the district administration is so decimated by actions of the board majority that it lacks an assistant superintendent, a director of maintenance, operations and transportation, a personnel director and an attendance/educational support officer.

But there are still plenty of reasons why Dr. Miller should look forward to his tenure in West Sacramento schools.

Among them:

- the district is staffed with dedicated and capable personnel;
- the district is financially solvent;
- campuses are relatively trouble-free;
- the district is in the forefront of educating a diverse student population;
- the city and the district have a variety of beneficial arrangements;
- a large segment of the community supports the public schools;
- and employer-employee relations are positive.

And besides, given the reign of terror that is the legacy of the present board majority, things can only get better!

And so we welcome Dr. Miller and wish him well as he assumes his position on March 28.

As a society, Californians are fed up with leniency on criminals

By Dan Lungren
California Attorney General

Based on preliminary statistics from 1993, the number of crimes committed in California dropped 3.8% last year, compared to the same period in 1992. Violent crimes dropped 4.1%, led by a 7.5% decline in forcible rape, a 4.4% decline in robbery and a 3.8% drop in aggravated assaults. In addition, property crimes, comprised of burglary and motor vehicle theft, were down 3.7%. Only one of the major crime categories registered an increase in 1993. Unfortunately, the most serious category of all — homicide — rose 2.6%.

How should we assess the state of public safety in California today? The good news is that the number of crimes is down, and the crime rate is lower today than it was in the peak year of 1980. It is dramatically lower than it would have been if the astounding increase of the 1960's and 1970's had been allowed to continue. Fed up with lenient policies that blamed society for criminal behavior, the people demanded a new approach in the eighties with tougher laws, longer sentences and more prisons. This is very important, because as we face rates of crime that are still too high, we need to know what works — and do more of it.

But the bad news is indeed stark. Never before have we seen violence so senseless in its content and random in where it strikes. While the number of crimes may be down, Californians feel more vulnerable than ever. I believe that this is because the intensity of brutality visited upon the homes, schools, workplaces and streets of our state has never been greater. The madness seems to be everywhere.

In Pasadena, three teenage boys between the ages of 13 and 14 were gunned down as they walked home from a Halloween party. In Sacramento, a young woman who was studying at night to become a nursing assistant was found suffocated, bound, gagged and dumped off a freeway ramp. In Los Angeles, an eight-year-old boy was eating lunch with his father when a gang shootout erupted at the restaurant and the boy was killed. In San Diego, Thai Van An, a Vietnamese refugee who endured 14 years in communist prison camps before finally winning a chance for freedom in America, was stabbed 22 times as he collected aluminum cans on the street to sell to recyclers. With limited English and job skills, it was the only work he could find. Thai Van An miraculously survived the killing fields of Southeast Asia, only to be cut down in the killing streets of California.

I welcome the many voices which suddenly have risen in support of the idea that we must get tough on criminals and reclaim the streets of California. Even those who never made public safety a priority in the past claim it as theirs today.

Frankly, I don't care whether they have seen the light or simply felt the heat. It only matters that, at long last, the cries of the victims and potential victims are being heard.

Letters to the Editor

Fisher's reasons:

An open letter to David Miller, Superintendent of Schools, Washington Unified School District:

Please accept my resignation from the Washington Unified School District board of trustees effective immediately.

I have reluctantly come to the conclusion that I no longer wish to serve on a school board I believe to be incompetent, unprofessional and mean-spirited.

Unfortunately, for the past two years, I can think of nothing — absolutely nothing — this school board has done to help improve the educational experience of the children of this school district. Instead, we have played small-town politics, settled old scores with individuals we didn't like or couldn't get along with, and absolutely refused to listen to the sincere concerns of administrators, teachers, parents, and the students we serve. We have made an art-form of micro-management, forced hard-working and competent employees to seek employment elsewhere, and failed to see the many problems which face this school district in their proper statewide — even nationwide — context. Saddest of all, we have squandered numerous opportunities which could have put us way ahead of the game and had no concern whatsoever with the ethics of the means we have used to accomplish poorly thought out ends. In short, we have made fools of ourselves.

My original four-year term was up in November of last year and I have wanted to resign for some time, but I decided to stay on because I wished to have a say in the selection of a new superintendent of schools. Now that you have accepted that position — and since I believe you will do a good job — I see no need for me to remain on the board any longer.

When the majority of the school board — as it did last night — doesn't even have the courage to censure its president when he publicly degrades and ridicules every teacher in the district in the local newspapers, it's time to find other things to do.

Hopefully, the day will come when the voters of the state will have the good sense to realize that school boards are an arachaic and dreadful way to administer school districts, but until that time arrives, West Sacramentans are going to have to get serious about who they elect to sit on their school board. They are going to have to vote for people who not only know something about public education, but also people who will refuse to be a part of the Khmer Rouge mentality which has controlled the WUSD school board for much too long.

Fortunately, no matter how poorly this school board has performed its duties, the many fine teachers in this district have kept teaching and those students who value their education have kept learning. With that to draw upon, I'm sure you are going to be able to make a difference in the lives of the young men and women of this community.

Apologies

I want to publicly apologize for my remarks in a preface to a letter last week. I jumped to the conclusion about the West Sacramento Press censoring my letter. As I wrote to the Press editor, I know there is nothing worse for a honest man than being accused of not being an indepedent thinker. It usually takes a lot of strength and some personal sacrifice to remain true to oneself in this old world.

We have endured several "come and go" newspapers in this town recently that appeared to have hidden agendas. I guess that conditioning, plus my zeal to defend someone as honorable as Dave Jones, overshadowed my better judgement. I want to be sure my most sincere apologies are printed in both newspapers. PEACE.

Seniors

The East Yolo Senior Club has voted on a new time for the potlucks and business meetings. They will be held at 12:30 p.m. instead of 1 p.m. starting in March on the 3rd Saturday of each month. The potlucks will be at 12:30 and on the 1st Tuesday of the month our business meetings will start at 12:30 p.m.

If you have any new ideas, please try to bring them to the business meeting. The commission on aging has changed their time to 10 a.m. on the 1st Monday of the month. This is a meeting seniors should try to attend — they are here for your concerns and your needs. But they can't help you if you are not at the meeting to voice them.

Don't forget the March 1 deadline for dues to the club and for a discount to the Luau.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento River registered 1 ft. 6 in. U. S. Gauge at the S. P. bridge yesterday. This reading was taken at low tide and is not a real indication of the depth of the river for even at this writing River Steamers having a draft of more than 3 ft make daily trips up and down the stream without difficulty. Some very ugly sand bars stick their heads above the river bed north of the S. P. Bridge. The principal one being that one lately erected by the Federal Government in the middle of the stream to permit the passage of steamers near the old pioneer mill building.

The Washington Service Station is now selling gasoline at 16c a gallon to comply with the cut made yesterday at the principal stations in Sacramento and to comply with the announcement of the big producing corporations that gas is entitled to a lower rate to the consumer and may be still further cut, in response to the rule of supply and demand.

Wallie Fraser part owner in the Washington filling-station had the misfortune to lose his new Ford automobile last Saturday night August 18th at a point near 29th and C where he and several young friends of his had gone on a bathing and petting expedition. Following the bathing episode the young folks enjoyed what they called a chummy get together in the glades along the river and it was while this party was on that miscreants stole the new Ford from its parking place. On reporting at the police station Fraser found his automobile parked at the municipal garage stripped of several accessories which had been added to its equipment at great expense to the owner.

Last Tuesday prohibition enforcement officers Greer and Plant made a visit to the establishment of [illegible] Beltrami and after searching around the place for a long time they decided that Beltrami was operating absolutely in a legitimate way without even a single ounce of intoxivating liquor. Beltrami has been conducting a boarding house and rooming house on the premises formerly known as the Weed Saloon but lately decided that it would pay him better to overlook the profits that he might make in Jackass.

Mrs Martin Marty of the monument ranch who has been seriously sick in the sisters hospital for several weeks is somewhat improved and has returned to her home but is still under the care of physicians.

OPERATION OF CHINESE GAMBLING DENS CONDEMNED BY WASHINGTON RESIDENTS

Signatures in the number of 115 have been attached to a petition to the district attorney of Yolo County, George T. Kern, asking that he take immediate steps to suppress gambling houses in Washington.

Last Tuesday evening, in company with Constable Buckingham, he invaded the alley formerly known as Reed's Alley, where it was found that a gambling place had been fitted up but was not in operation at the time that the raid was made.

One Chinaman was found at a gambling table with $1.10 before him, but at the time of the raid there was no other person at the table on which the money was found, nevertheless the Chinaman was placed under arrest and was held on $100 cash bail by Judge Barry.

The trial of Yong Key, arrested on August 20th by Constable Buckingham and Kern, will take place on next Wednesday, August 29th, and the trial of Ah Lum, taken by Constable Buckingham and Don Graff on August 21st, will take place on the same day.

Lum has been held by Judge Barry under $100 cash bail to appear on the date above specified.

There seems no doubt that the prediction made by this paper three weeks ago that the Chinese of Sacramento are about to invade Washington, is about to be fulfilled. Eight places of business have now been leased by Chinamen and some are already operating, apparently as stores or soft drinks places, but what goes on behind the screens and high partitions remains a mystery to Americans who are not of the oriental race.

The Hoffman saloon that has been used as a soft drink place for many years was being remodeled yesterday under the direction of Contractor R. M. Smith of Sacramento. A carpenter working on the premises, Lawrence Urban, told the writer that a promise had been made to the Chinaman, Ah Fred, that the place would be ready for occupancy next Saturday. In this place the familiar partitions known in Chinese stores are being erected and apparently a lease has been granted to Ah Fred by the Hauser family, who own the property.

The old bakery shop next to the post office that has been vacant for many years is also being remodeled at the request of Chinese, who claim they have leased the property from the Hauser family also.

The Davis property on Second street, occupied some time ago by the Porter family, is being remodeled, partitions being removed and new appliances being installed to fit it as a place for Chinese occupation.

Examination of the petition to the district attorney showed that only about one-third of those who strenuously oppose the Chinese are property owners in Washington.

From expressions of opinion heard on the streets it is apparent that a counter petition may be circulated and all the large property owners of the town might be ready to welcome an influx that might mean prosperity to the property owners of the town.

Washington has been dormant for a considerable time, or really since the Southern Pacific bridge was built with its overhead passageway. That really is the worst detriment that could ever have been inflicted on the people.

As a residence section it has not built up as it should, and as a business center it has not flourished as other suburbs of Sacramento have flourished.

The marked advance made by North Sacramento within the past two years is proof of this. This northern suburb, separated from the Capital city by many miles of travel and with difficult roadways, has built up materially, while Washington, closer to the post office in Sacramento than Twenty-eighth street is, has absolutely fallen asleep.

The Independent is not in favor of a Chinese invasion but it is amply evident that invasion may forestall an influx of business that will mean added prosperity for the property owners of the town a little later on.

The Independent does not favor gambling in any sense of the word, but so long as American men and boys fail to secure admission to the Chinese places of gambling or business there can be no damage to morals in the community.

Conceding that the Chinese are not of the most desirable class of people there remiins the fact that there are today many others of foreign nativity who are just as undesirable as a Chinese, who have been making their homes in the town and who pursue their vocation without interference on the part of the residents of Washington.

Attention might be called to the camp located at the end of the M street bridge on this side of the river.

Time and again this paper has cried out for retribution against this conglomeration of invaluable itinerants, but yet no aid has come to back up the Independent to abate this nuisance.

A thousand times this paper would rather see a number of Chinese quietly operating business property under substantial leases and good rents rather than the bunch who now inhabit the camping ground near the M street bridge.

And yet, while the Independent fought against this promiscuous invasion of invaluable citizens, nobody lent a word to help it along to prevent the desecration.

If the Chinese will strictly adhere to the rule they have established that no white man can enter their gambling places, then they are a more desirable class than those located now at Front and M streets, and they are a more desirable class than those who for years were the bane and the trouble of Reed's Alley.

BLUEBIRD INN RAIDED: TWO ARRESTS MADE BY SHERIFF

J. Adams and M. Grace were arrested at a Broderick dance hall last Saturday night in a raid conducted by Constable Henry Buckingham and deputy sheriffs employed by Sheriff J. W. Monroe, including Adolph Silberstein and C. Simpkins. Four bottles of wine and a similar amount of jackass were confiscated in the raid. Some thirty patrons were found in the place at the time the officers swooped down on the place. Both men are in the county jail here, being held on violations of the Volstead act.

FRST MENDICANT MAKES APEARANCE ON WASHINGTON STREETS

Frank Jones, a cripple with both legs cut off below his knees, was seen yesterday on the streets of Washington selling pencils to the charitably inclined.

His stock in trade was one pencil and many who saw his predicament dropped their dime into his hand and permitted him to retain his stock.

Frank Jones was not his name, but it will do for this occasion.

Disabled in a railroad accident 13 years ago and unable to walk except on his knees, he has managed to make a living and keep body and soul together by selling pencils, but a few days ago he was driven out of Sacramento by the police because the reformers want to clean up the town for the state fair.

God knows he needs help. He can't work, for navigation to him is painful. Heavy pads protect his knees from the pavements and a pair of crutches enable him to get along as best he can.

Unless the charitably inclined want to help him he must starve, and when driven out of a large community like Sacramento to get a few dimes from the working people of Washington, it would appear that he has struck the wrong quarter of the globe to make a living.

Jones made claim that he had applied at the office of the community chest in Sacramento and got little satisfaction. From the Salvation Army he claimed to have secured some aid but only for a few days.

Derelict, penniless and friendless, he walked on his knees across the bridge from Sacramento by orders of the police force and tried to sell one pencil so that he might eat before getting a bed.

GAS SUPPLY WILL BE SOON READY FOR WASHINGTON

Announcement is made by the P. G. and E. Company that a gas supply will be ready for consumers in the town within the next two months and that work will be commenced on the installation of the main pipe to convey the supply within the next ten days.

This decision was arrived at after a new canvas was made within the last few weeks when one hundred and thirty eight consumers pledged themselves to take a supply of gas for at least one year.

In all there are 245 possible consumers of manufactured gas for household purposes in the community and the corporation believes that when the first have taken the supply others will immediately fall in line because of the great convenience this household utility will be to consumers.

Immediately after the work of installation of the main lead pipe will be started an engineer will interview those householders who have signed to take a supply. He will locate the point at which the meter for each house is to be placed and after telling the householder where that meter will be placed the householder will be expected to extend a feed pipe from the stove or lighting apparatus to the meter.

From the meter to the main supply pipe the company will install 50 feet of pipe free of charge but should some more pipe be required to supply a home in reaching the meter a nominal charge for the distance over 50 feet will be made.

This is the third campaign that finally resulted in victory for the progressive householders who want a gas supply. Two previous campaigns were unsuccessful although there are a number of householders who must have the supply and who need it badly especially during the summer months.

A display of gas ranges is now being made at the headquarters of the corporation at 11th and K St and a still larger display will be made at the State Fair Grounds during the state fair.

Some parents are now naming their children Calvin, and some Warren Gamaliel.

The wise ones are calling their children Noah.

NO HUNTING

This is to notify the public that the California Fish and Game Commission has liberated herds of elk on our cattle range in Yolo, Lake and Colusa counties. This range commences approximately four miles west of Rumsey, near and including the Ray House range, extending up and including Cache Creek six miles, thence in a northeasterly direction crossing Bear Creek approximately eight miles above the junction of Cache and Bear creeks and bounded on the east by Cortina Mountains and including that part of the range formerly owned by the Stovall Wilcoxson Company called the "Hamilton Place," which is the northern boundary.

Anyone found hunting on these premises will be prosecuted according to law.

"yes" votes it required.

"When they refuse to censure the president when he ridicules all the teachers in the school district, that was the final straw," Fisher said later.

For two years, he had been a member of the board's three-person minority while the board was dominated by the votes of Williams, Eklund, Carter and Flint.

In his resignation letter to new superintendent Dr. David Miller, Fisher called the board "incompetent, unprofessional and meanspirited."

"Unfortunately, for the past two years, I can think of nothing -- absolutely nothing -- this School Board has done to help improve the educational experience of the children of this school district," he wrote. "Instead, we have played small-town politics, settled old scores with individuals we don't like or couldn't get along with, and absolutely refused to listen to the sincere concerns of administrators, teachers, parents, and the students we serve."

In comments made Tuesday, Fisher expressed support for new superintendent Miller, who was chosen on a rare unanimous vote by the board earlier this month.

"Although I don't believe in superintendents on white horses, I do think Dr. Miller is going to do an excellent job," said Fisher. "He is a good and decent man with a fine record in public education."

Fisher also stated that he would not be running for the school board -- or for any other public office -- in the June elections.

The motion to censure board president Williams last week came from board member Linda Brooks, after a public outcry which resulted from an interview Williams gave to the West Sacramento Press newspaper.

In those comments, Williams was quoted that the only good personnel in the Washington Unified School District were a few good custodians.

Williams has denied making that statement and said he was misquoted.

John Hartmire, editor of the Press, said Tuesday that Williams had not asked his newspaper for a correction and that the quote about the custodians was accurate.

"We made a statement in our paper last week that we stand by the statement he made to us," said Hartmire.

Williams could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

camel's back" (see related article this issue).

The district's annual audit caused a flurry of comment over findings of numerous discrepancies in the district's student body accounting records, overpayments of health insurance premiums for employees who had left the district, clerical errors in attendance reporting, and expenditures exceeding appropriations in the cafeteria fund.

Trustees expressed frustration with the findings, but were told by assistant superintendent Jim Sweeney that his office lacks the staff to prevent such problems. A report with responses is due back in two months.

Criticism of the condition of the River City campus was made by Janet Arunyakasem as a member of the local Soroptimist Club. The club furnished and served lunch at Yolo County's annual Academic Decathlon February 5 at the high school.

"Members of Soropitimist were absolutely appalled and highly embarrassed at the condition of the school", she told the trustees. Citing what she called "the bleak and gloomy look of the school", she itemized problems that included dirty floors and tables, graffiti on walls and windows, lack of heat in many rooms and a general lack of preparation for the event.

"Please investigate and act on these conditions and omissions," she pleaded with trustees, who expressed similar concerns and assured her they will be addressed.

Pasta & politics

Candidates for statewide office and other political luminaries will join Democrats from all over Yolo County for "Pasta & Politics" on Saturday, Feb. 26 at the Home Arts Building at the County Fairgrounds in Woodland.

Attendees and speakers include state assemblyman Thomas Hannigan, who represents Yolo County, county supervisor Mike McGowan, who is running later this year to represent Yolo County in the state senate, and assemblywoman Gwen Moore, who is running for secretary of state. Bill Lockyer, recently named to succeed David Roberti as president pro tem of the California state senate, is the tentative keynote speaker.

The evening kicks off with a social hour at 6 p.m., followed by a delicious spaghetti dinner starting at 7 p.m. Tickets are $15 per person, and can be purchased from any member of the Yolo County Democratic Central Committe or by calling 756-8038 (Davis); 662-6108 (Woodland); or 372-7604 (West Sacramento). This event is the primary fundraiser for the central committee, which directs grassroots organizing for Democrats throughout Yolo County.

The raffle at this year's dinner boasts special prize packages representing specific areas of the county, including nights on the town in Davis and Woodland, and golfing in West Sacramento. The grand prize will be two nights at the Northstar-at-Tahoe resort in North Lake Tahoe.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

The City Council of the City of West Sacramento will conduct a public hearing on March 2, 1994 at 7:00 PM or as soon thereafter as possible, on the following. The hearing will be held in the City Council Chambers, 2101 Stone Blvd., West Sacramento, CA. Interested persons may appear and be heard on the issue(s) listed.

1. Approval of Resolution 94-7 amending the General Plan. The City adopted its General Plan in 1990. As part of the General Plan, broad noise goals and policies were adopted to protect city residents from the harmful effects of noise. The General Plan also contains implementation programs to carry out the goals and policies related to noise.

The Community Development Department of the City proposes technical and substantive amendments to the noise policies and implementation programs of the General Plan Policy Document. These amendments include revised noise standards for transportation related noise sources and non-transportation related noise sources. The amendments also include revised noise standards for new transportation projects and for roadway improvement projects. The proposed implementation programs deal with specific procedures to ensure that the noise policies will be implemented by the City.

Copies of the proposed amendments to the noise policies and implementation programs, and the Negative Declaration for this action are available for review in the Office of the Community Development Department, 1951 South River Road. Please contact Terry Roberts at this address, or telephone number 373-5854 if you have any questions.

Item #3
Staff Presentation - "Vision Planning: Sensible Approaches to Designing Communities of Place"

Community resistance to growth - even with the promise of economic benefit - has become a regular feature of planning in California. The problem facing planners and decision makers today is - how can we match the dreams of architects and developers to community concerns in a way that makes growth manageable and attractive? Community Development staff recently attended a workshop at UC Davis by award-winning urban planner and architect Anton Nelessen, who offered challenging answers to this and other questions plaguing today's cities. An overview of the concepts of this workshop will be presented, including techniques of "vision planning" and sensible approaches for creating "communities of place."

Copies of the applications, legal descriptions, and environmental documents are on file in the office of the City of West Sacramento Community Development Department, 1951 South River Road, West Sacramento, California 95691.

All affected parties should appear and explain to the Commission the effect that the proposed projects will have on their property and to state any other relevant information. If you challenge any of the noticed items in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered to the City of West Sacramento at, or prior to, the public hearing.
